Freedom HSA Investing is easy.

Eligibility for the Freedom HSA investment options is determined by your account balance. The initial investment must be at least $500, and subsequent investments must be at least $100. After each investment, your traditional Freedom HSA account must retain at least $2,000.

Track your investments online – You will be able to track your account balance online at www.freedomhsa.org. You will have access to the Transamerica Asset Allocation Portfolios investment portal and the ability to view investment details and make exchanges between available mutual funds.

Move money with ease – All HSA contributions for investment must be credited first to your base HSA account. Your initial investment elections will be made on your investment account application. Additional investment elections can be made online or by fax.

Transamerica Asset Allocation Portfolios: Professional Integration of Multiple Managers

Since the inception of Transamerica Funds in 1985, they have engaged a variety of investment firms to manage their mutual funds, based on the conviction that no single firm can be the best at managing all investment styles all the time. Accordingly, for each of the funds, they hire a firm they believe has the requisite experience and expertise for the fund type. They then bring these diverse managers and funds together in the fund-of-funds. This multi-manager structure provides:

- Specialized management and research capabilities for each type of fund.
- Highly educated, experienced and reputable portfolio managers.
- Diversifications of research, investment strategies, philosophies, processes and ideas – all professionally allocated and integrated within each fund-of-funds.

Before investing, investors should carefully consider their investment objectives and the risks, charges and expenses associated with the mutual funds. The prospectus contains this and other information about the funds. Visit Transamerica Asset Allocation Portfolios at www.transamericainvestments.com or call 866-729-5288 for a prospectus, and read it carefully before investing.

Mutual funds are subject to market risk, including the loss of principal.

Anyone 18 to 64 years old, who is insured by a qualified high-deductible health plan and cannot be claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return, may set up and contribute to an HSA. You may keep your account for your lifetime.

How much can I contribute to my HSA?

The maximum contribution for 2009 is $3,000 for individuals and $5,950 for families. With the Freedom HSA, you can make deposits into your account through automatic bank deposits or by submitting a check to your account.

Persons age 55 and older may make an additional “catch-up” contribution of $1,000.

How do I withdraw money from my HSA?

With the Freedom HSA, you have three options for withdrawal:

1. Online withdrawal through the secure Web site,
2. Benny™ debit card, or
3. Call toll-free and request a check be issued to you from your account.

Be sure to keep your medical expense receipts!

Qualified medical expenses must be incurred on or after the date the account was established. For example, if you open your account in August, you are not able to use the funds for medical expenses incurred the prior June.

Who determines if the funds I withdraw are used for a qualified expense?

You are responsible for determining if the expense is qualified. When you open your account, you will be provided a list of qualified services and the list can also be found at www.freedomhsa.org.

Does my HSA earn interest?

Yes! Competitive interest rates are available on balances of $500 or more. Current rates can be found at www.freedomhsa.org.

Can I invest my HSA dollars?

Yes! Transamerica Asset Allocation Portfolios are available through Transamerica Retirement Management, Inc. with a minimum Freedom HSA account balance of $3,000. However, $2,000 must remain in your basic deposit HSA account after each investment transaction. The minimum initial investment is $500, and subsequent investment transactions require a minimum of $100. See the investment section of this guide for full details.

Who can contribute to my HSA?

Anyone can put money into your account, including but not limited to family members and employers. Please consult a tax professional regarding the tax deductibility of funds not contributed by you, the account owner.

Can I use my HSA dollars for expenses not covered by my health plan?

Yes! It is your money and you can take it out at any time. Qualified expenses include things such as health plan deductible, coinsurance, LASIK, dental care, over-the-counter medications and much more! If you use HSA dollars for non-qualified expenses, you will be subject to ordinary income taxes on the amount and may be subject to a 10 percent federal tax penalty. You cannot use your HSA funds to pay your health insurance premiums.

What happens to the money in my HSA if I turn age 65, no longer have a qualified health plan or pass away?

Any money deposited into your account is yours and will remain in your account until you decide to withdraw it. At age 65, your HSA can be withdrawn for retirement income, which will be subject to ordinary income tax. However, the 10 percent federal tax penalty for withdrawing funds for non-qualified expenses no longer applies. In the event of your death, your named beneficiary determines what will happen with the HSA. If your spouse is your beneficiary, the account will be treated as your spouse's HSA account after your death. If your beneficiary is your estate or anyone other than a spouse, the account terminates and distributions are subject to any applicable taxes.

What are the account fees?

The standard account fees are very competitive – $2.50 per month for administration. There is a $10 replacement fee if the Benny™ debit card is lost and must be replaced.
